Empowering your organization

On the journey from compliance to operating efficiency onto strategic advantage

Reporter Services membership gives organizations data, analytics and support to reduce emissions and improve business performance. You can benchmark your performance against peers and identify material risks and opportunities with the world's largest source of primary climate-change data.

CDP gathers high-quality data on behalf of 722 investors, representing $87 trillion of assets, who increasingly consider sustainability issues when making investment decisions. The Carbon Disclosure Score is calculated annually for more than 3,200 companies, and this information is downloaded 1.5 million times a year from Bloomberg. The tools offered through Reporter Services demonstrate the importance of sustainability to your organization. They allow you to look beyond reporting at how to integrate carbon, energy and water management into a wider business strategy.

Benchmarking
Access to CDP data is delivered by your account manager through Analytics reports including:

- Score feedback and top scoring answers
- C-suite benchmarking snapshot
- Scope 1, 2, 3 emissions
- Risks and opportunities
- Emission reductions activities & cost savings
- Excel export of raw data

CDP Expertise
Optimize your CDP response and capitalize on the information in Analytics reports with the help of a dedicated account manager.

Networking and Insights
Engage with peers to share best practice in carbon management and reporting, and discover innovative ideas from industry experts.
